The National Conference Center in Leesburg, VA to Provide Meals to Furloughed Loudoun Federal Workers

200 Dining Tickets Available Per Day to be Issued on a First-come, First-served Basis

Loudoun County, Va. – The National Conference Center, a GSA approved property, will serve breakfast, lunch, or dinner to Loudoun furloughed federal workers and their families beginning Tuesday, January 15th until the federal government fully reopens. Dining tickets will be issued to Loudoun County residents who show their Federal ID at the front desk of The National Conference Center beginning at 7am, Monday through Friday. All meals will be served at The National Conference Center's Dining Room, which seats up 880 guests.

The National Conference Center is working in conjunction with Chair Phyllis Randall and the Loudoun County Board of Supervisors to provide meals to some of the 15,000 – 20,000 federal workers who live in Loudoun and are affected by the partial government shutdown. The shutdown is in its fourth week, now the longest-running in U.S. history.

“We are happy to join other relief efforts across the region to assist federal workers, who have now missed their first paycheck,” said Vice President & General Manager Geoff Lawson. “The National Conference Center is honored to count federal agencies and organizations among our top clients for the past forty years, and we feel moved to help our community during this time.”

About The National Conference Center

Located on its own 65-acre campus in Northern Virginia, 12 miles from Dulles International Airport and 35 miles from Washington D.C., The National Conference Center is one of the largest and most comprehensive learning and training facilities in the nation. Referred to as “the cathedral of learning,” the 1 million square foot complex offers 917 guest rooms and 265,000 square feet of meeting and group function space. The National is on the U.S. Government GSA schedule and recently received the coveted “Hotel of the Year of the Year” award from the Virginia Restaurant, Lodging and Travel Association.

The National Conference Center complex includes the West Belmont Place Event Center, a catering complex that includes Northern Virginia’s largest ballroom (16,552 square feet). The hub for Loudoun County and surrounding area social and special events, West Belmont Place was named “Best Venue” by the International Special Events Society. The National Conference Center is owned by NCC PS Enterprises LLC, a venture between PCCP LLC and Stoneleigh Capital LLC, which retained LaKota Hotels & Resorts to oversee all aspects of the day-to-day operations.
