The National Conference Center Announces Frank Estremera, Executive Chef

Leesburg, Virginia, May, 2018 — The National Conference Center and West Belmont Place operated by LaKota Hotels & Resorts, is pleased to announce the appointment of Frank Estremera as Executive Chef effective May 14. The ever growing culinary program includes The Dining Room, The Black Olive, and the West Belmont Place event center, which hosts numerous galas, proms, corporate banquets and meetings, along with local special events and fundraisers using both outside and indoor space.

“We are delighted to add Frank to our award-winning culinary team,” said Food and Beverage Director, Todd Goldian. “Frank’s culinary experiences perfectly align with the innovative food and beverage program throughout The National and West Belmont Place.”

Estremera’s love of food started at an early age working in his family’s Peruvian restaurant at the early age of 11. He has honed his culinary experience at some of the nation’s top destinations including two regional venues, Loudoun’s Lansdowne Resort and Lockheed Martin’s Center for Leadership Excellence where he was most recently Executive Chef.

“I’m excited to advance the creative culinary experience being delivered at The National and look forward to introducing seasonal, interesting and farm-fresh food that is nutritious and well balanced to the National’s and West Belmont guests, through all the outlets,” said Estremera. “I continue to learn and am passionate about food in general and look forward to expanding our ethnic and cultural experiences as well.”

Guests will be able to see Estremera in action at DISHED Dulles Chefs Showdown, hosted by the Dulles Regional Chamber of Commerce, on Thursday, May 10 at the National Conference Center. He will be competing with other well-known area chefs. Each competing chef designates their favorite charity to compete for the top prize donations, ranging from $750-$250. To learn more about this event and purchase tickets, click here.
